I AM
Thankful

“The best kind of giving is thanksgiving.” There is logic and truth in that statement, but also a spiritual dimension, namely our obligation to God of thanksgiving.

We have been given much, especially when, as Americans, we scan the neighborhoods of the world and see how much less many of our sisters and brothers have. How even clean running water coming from a faucet is considered luxurious in many places. Could it be that we take too much for granted? Last Sunday our Special Needs children, their parents and Amy Vieira their catechist, began the 8th year of adaptive special needs faith formation. Amy is a seasoned, certified special needs teacher in the public school system for 20 years. She is a caring, kind, loving, spiritually devoted catechist who has made a such a difference in the lives of our children. She has created an amazing special needs program here at St. Henry's for "God's disciples" who are taught weekly with their parents in attendance. I visited the classroom via Zoom and my heart was on overload watching the children engage in the lesson being taught. I received a few "I love you, Miss Pope" - priceless!

Please continue to pray for God's children all over the world. God bless,
- Marie Pope
